Socialist Defeated.
Milwaukee, Wis., April 7.—Mayor Gerhardt A. Bading, non-partisan, today was re-elected over Emil Biedel, socialist democratic candidate, by a majority of the precincts. Mayor Bading will have a common council made up largely of non-partisans, though it is expected a few of the socialist democrats will poll through in wards where that party is strong.

Schools Question to Front.
Omaha, Neb., April 7.—Municipal elections were held throughout Nebraska today, with the question of licensing saloons predominating in most instances. Success of the "wet" and "dry" elements alternated. In a few instances the question of permitting pool halls to operate was voted upon. In Omaha, after having saloons for twenty years, the pool hall was voted down. Hickman voted its saloons. Early reports showed few changes, however.

Proal Forces Won.
St. Paul, Minn., April 7.—Prohibition forces moved heavily in the municipal elections held by Minneapolis today. The fourth class according to returns late tonight, showed a narrow victory for the "dry" forces. Laverne and Canby, for many years leading saloon towns in southwestern Minnesota, today entered the lists for the first time. Litchfield, for twenty years a saloon town, voted dry by a 2-1 majority.

Spanish Colony Dependents.
El Paso, Texas, April 7.—When George C. Carothers, special agent of the department of state, returned to this side from his conference with General Carranza today he locked himself in his office, saying that he had reported to make. Pressed for confirmation or denial of information since in Juarez, he replied: "I merely am an interpreter. There is no matter between the United States and General Carranza. The subject is one which I cannot discuss."

The large colony of Spanish refugees in El Paso are dependent. They are convinced their properties will be confiscated and themselves deprived of their homes. Spanish holdings in the La Guana district of Coahuila are valued at fifty million pesos, according to Spanish refugees here. The Spanish property in Torreon includes leading stores in the business district, factories and warehouses, and the Spaniards own a part of the stock of the Banco La Guana, a sugar refining corporation.

In addition to the Torreon interests, the Spaniards own large haciendas in the cotton district of La Guana and the irrigated alfalfa farms. The total Spanish population of Torreon is estimated to be 4,000, but has been reduced since the start of the revolution to 1,000, including Spanish residents of the La Guana, a sugar refining corporation.

No arrangements have been made by the Spanish colony here to receive and care for the Spaniards who are reported that the first train load of the refugees would arrive late tonight.

strait, caught and held helpless the men of the Newfoundland. The steamer was one of a fleet of fifteen vessels, carrying more than 2,000 men, that have been at sea since March 10. All her men, save Captain Kean, his officers, the gunners, stokers and cooks, went on the floor after "white caps," the great work of the head seas, which were especially valuable as they were at the time the steamer was wrecked. Captain Kean, who was in the command of the Newfoundland, was the only man who was not killed. He was found floating in the water, but he was not seen again.

Messages transmitted by wireless telegraph from the ice floes of the strait have brought to St. John, N. B., the news of what may prove to be the worst disaster that has attended the sealing industry of Newfoundland since the sinking of the Newfoundland. Forty of the 200 men that made up the crew of the Newfoundland have been lost, and of the thirty rescued many are feared, will yet succumb to the effects of the dreadful cold to which they have been subjected.

Excellent order is being maintained, and no shooting or pillaging is permitted. The city is in a state of anarchy and that the city is in a state of anarchy."

MEXIC EDITORS DENY TORREON HAS FALLEN

Governor Glynn, of New York, has made a discovery. It is that the state is engaged upon a rebuilding program that involves a staggering expenditure of money—sum far in excess of the $100,000,000 of bonds already voted. SUPREME COURT ASKED TO PASS ON TAP LINES

Washington, April 7.—The supreme court of the United States was asked today to decide whether "tap lines" running from power camps to trolley lines in the southwest are railroads subject to share in freight rates of the trunk line, or merely are parts of the trolley plant.

Attorney General Pleasant, on behalf of the "tap lines" upheld the claim that these lines should share in the through rates. Counsel for the power companies argued that "tap lines" really were part of the trolley plant, and that the power companies should not share in the through rates.

The department of attorneys for the power companies, on the other hand, argued that the power companies should not share in the through rates. The department of attorneys for the trolley companies, on the other hand, argued that the trolley companies should not share in the through rates.

ORIGIN AND GROWTH OF THE BLACK BELT IS TOLD BY BROOKS

Professor R. P. Brooks, of the University of Georgia, delivered Tuesday night, at the University club, the second of a series of lectures. The subject was "The Origin and Growth of the Black Belt in Georgia." Professor Brooks explained the causes of the great movement of Virginians and Carolinians to upper Georgia at the end of the eighteenth and in the first quarter of the nineteenth centuries. He showed how the former Virginia tobacco planters became cotton raisers in Georgia, and traced the gradual expansion of the cotton industry across Georgia.

Cotton lent itself peculiarly well to large-scale production. The constant tendency was for the use of cotton plantation to increase in acreage, accompanied by an increase in the number of slaves per owner. In order to acquire the necessary land for expanding his plantation, the planter bought out his smaller neighbors, usually small white farmers. The small farmers moved westward in search of new and cheap land, thus bringing about a decline in the number of whites in middle Georgia counties. As the slave owners already increasing in number, there soon appeared in the eastern part of the cotton belt a number of counties with black majorities. Every census report showed that the number of black counties was increasing and a black wedge was being driven through the heart of the state. Beginning with Richmond county in 1880, the black area expanded in a southwesterly direction, reaching and embracing Early in 1900. Professor Brooks also made the interesting point that the number of black counties has continued to increase since the civil war. In 1860 there were 44 counties with black majorities; in 1910, there were 64.
